

Paul Fletcher

Senior Partner

Paul is based in London and heads up Actis's business activities worldwide. Paul joined Actis in 2000 as Director of Africa and Global Sector Groups and was appointed as CEO in 2002, after which he led the demerger of Actis from CDC.

Before joining Actis, Paul was Head of Emerging Markets Strategic Planning for Citibank in London and, prior to that, General Manager for Citibank in East Africa based in Nairobi. Paul also spent eight years working as a Corporate Finance professional in New York, Tokyo and London. He began his career trading commodities for Cargill in Minneapolis and London before joining the commodities division of Bankers Trust.

Paul is a Director of the Emerging Markets Private Equity Association (EMPEA). He holds an MA in Geography from Oxford University.